Project summary and VPS' profile	The project consists of inviting a Visiting Professor who will be able to teach and conduct seminar activities in English on the theme of cinema within the history of international cultural relations in the 20th century, and especially during the Cold War. Recently, the role of culture in the international history of the contemporary age is increasingly emerging as a crucial theme that it is worthwhile to promote more and more strongly within teaching activities. This applies even more to the CW period, marked by a geopolitical and cultural antagonism between East and West that the current conflict between Russia and Ukraine has forcefully resurfaced and whose deep roots are incomprehensible without an adequate knowledge of twentieth century. It is therefore deemed useful to invite an expert whose expertise could range from the international history of the 20th century, as well as cultural and film history. The VP will have to address in his teaching and seminar activities the role of cinema and culture within the historical context of the CW; in this frame he has to draw a picture of film production in Eastern Europe, which is still little known but necessary to understand the circulating imagery and its repercussions in the present. Teachings and seminars will be especially addressed to students of following courses: "Storia dell'Europa Contemporanea"; "Letteratura Russa 1"; "Letteratura Russa 2"; "Lingua russa 4" (Master degree in Lingue e Letterature Moderne Europee e Americane); "Cinema e Storia"; "Storia del mondo contemporaneo" (Degree in Lingue e comunicazione).
